FARM CREDIT SHEET

Texas bankers who make a practice of loaning money to farmers have adopted, for their own protection and for the guidance of borrowers, what is known as a "Crop rate sheet for safe farming and bank credit." Taking a 40-acre two-horse farm as a unit, this sheet states the live stock and the quantity of food and feed crops necessary to support on such a farm a family of five. The prospective borrower is requested to state in the same way the actual system followed on his own farm. The closer the actual practice approaches the system outlined in the rate sheet, the better is the farmer's credit.

SWAT THE FLY EARLY

A great deal has been said and written during the last few years about fly-swamping campaigns. It is generally recognized that a very large part, probably 95 per cent, of all house flies are hatched in collections of manure, especially horse manure. It is very important, therefore, that all manure be hauled to the fields and the stables kept free from collections of manure during the spring and summer months at least. This involves no hardship on farmers, because by spreading the fresh manure directly they save all the most valuable fertilizing elements and by so doing swat the flies before they become flies.

Swatting the flies and using fly traps are useful in that they lessen the number of annoying flies, but their use is like giving medicine to relieve painful symptoms of a disease. We should treat, not the symptoms, but the disease itself. To treat the disease we must prevent the flies from breeding.

CONCRETE DEMONSTRATION

The Agricultural Extension Service of the College of Agriculture will, during the summer months, send an instructor to a limited number of places in the state to oversee a job of concrete work and to give a lecture and demonstration on the mixing and use of concrete. The only requirement that the college makes is that the person arranging for the demonstration must agree to have a number of his neighbors, who are interested in the use of concrete on the farm, gather together for the demonstration. Anyone interested in securing one of the demonstrations should write to Clark S. Wheeler, College of Agriculture, Columbus, Ohio, for details.

PARCEL POST BIG SAVER

How the operation of the parcel post is saving the people of this country hundreds of thousands of dollars is shown in the decreased revenues of the express companies. During December, 1914, the nine principal express companies net operating revenues were $449,550 as against $772,952 in December, 1913. For the six months ending December, 1914, the total operating revenues were $38,223,315; total expenses $37,095,418 and net operating revenue, $1,127,897 compared with $3,077,920 for the same period in 1913. Every day articles are received by parcel post bearing postage of 11 to 15 cents that in the days before the parcel post service went into effect, cost from 25 to 35 cents or even more to send.

The express companies are gradually adjusting themselves to new conditions. They have revised their rates and are giving special attention to the sending of farm products and to carrying of more parcels too bulky for the parcel post. Thus in the long run the express companies will be able to perform a great service to the public and to prosper. To the extent that they meet the demands for reasonable rates will they prevent the enlargement of the parcel post service to include the carrying of much larger packages.

THE SCHOOL RIPPER

The wrecking crew in the Ohio legislature has now reached the public school system. Having laid its destroying hands on the tax system, the agriculture department and the board of administration, it turns next to the schools.

To Representative Plumb and Senator Stone belongs the destination of introducing the school ripper. Their joint measure would take the life out of the present state system and set public education in Ohio back many years. At one stroke it would destroy what experts in school matters worked many months to bring about. It is assumed about the state house that Governor Willis is favorable to the ripper.

It is interesting to recall what Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, said of the Ohio school code which the wreckers in the legislature have now reached in their reign of destruction. "It is doubtful," the doctor is quoted as saying, "if there has been more constructive and progressive school legislation enacted by a single session of the legislature in any other state within the last century."

But, of course, the head of the educational department of the United States has no appreciation of the partisan needs of the Ohio legislature majority. He does not understand the mental processes of a real dyed-in-the-wood wrecker.

WILL MEET AT COAST

Whitacre, '01, president of the Central and Northern California Association. Rooms have been secured in the Ohio building for the convention.
